Sounds Wonderful

Singing and Music Program for children and teenagers

Confidence Building – Self Empowering – Self Expression – The love of Music and Singing

This vibrant, fun filled and educational program teaches about the voice, self-expression, singing and music.

The team of Sounds Wonderful unite and inspire confidence in children and teens to be themselves and let their natural voice and musical ability shine out. Working with our voice and body in this way naturally develops vitality, harmony and wellbeing in all aspects of our life.

- Discover how our whole body is our instrument
- Empowering vocal expression – the natural joy of singing and speaking up
- Developing vocal tone and enunciation
- How to focus, listen and unite as a group and work together as a team
- Building self-confidence naturally as we free up our voice – we are amazing!
- Body awareness – movement, rhythm and co-ordination
- Percussion and playing musical instruments
- Presence and confidence in stage work and performance

Learning and having fun with our voice and musical expression!

“ Nurturing the innate vocal and musical expression that is in all children enhances all aspect of their lives.

The Team

Daniel Bennier

Music is Life

Daniel completed his Bachelor of Education and Bachelor of Music majoring in Guitar in 2006. He is experienced teaching high schools, primary schools and TAFE colleges. He has been teaching students privately for 20 years in guitar, bass, keyboard, and drums.

Daniel has a wealth of experience playing live in the music industry having released songs on compilation CD's, a finalist at the Tamworth Music Festival and invited to judge on music competition panels.

His passion for people, children and music is evident in the care, detail and longevity in his musical education. Daniel's approach in teaching music includes all of life. Music is something that we can study and teach and that can also be lived and felt.

Chris James

Chris James has been presenting and developing inspirational Voice, Expression and Singing programs internationally for 30 years.

His Vocal Adventure For Schools program brings a unique, exciting approach to all aspects of voice, developing confidence, clarity, inspiration and enjoyment to education. He presents in Germany, UK, Australia, New Zealand, Finland, Canada and more.

Chris' professional development courses for teachers are foundational for inspiring clarity in communication and ongoing teacher and student well being.

Chris has been engaged by many public and private schools internationally as well as the Australia Defence Force, NSW police Force, and the Royal College of GP's for his professional development seminars. He has produced many music CDs and conducts regular Community Choirs throughout Australia.

Richard Mills

Learning and Development Professional, UK

A natural teacher experienced in working with people of all ages, Richard facilitates choirs and 'Joy of Singing' groups calling on a lifetime's history as a singer, musician and songwriter. Richard was the Chairman and Music Team Leader of 'The Royal Harmonics', a national silver medallist 'a cappella' male voice choir from Windsor UK, and bass singer with 'The Serious Chord Squad', finalists in the British National Barbershop competition in 2011.

He knows how music and singing can support all ages to rediscover the joy of expressing themselves and how supportive this is to wellbeing in life.

Since 1999 Richard has worked in educational environments specialising in subjects such as Safeguarding, Autism Awareness, Self-Care and Wellbeing, Mental Health Awareness and Positive Behaviour Support.
