

Chris James - Voice Coach

Speaking - Singing - Presenting with Confidence

Private sessions: Internet or in person

Reclaim the natural authority of your voice and expression.

'Everyone is born with a beautiful voice – clear, powerful and naturally expressive but for many this 'shuts down' early in life.' Chris' approach is renowned, and inspires and supports a lifetime of stress free, empowering self-expression. Experience the joy of singing and speaking in safe and practical sessions.

Corporate Voice Coaching – One Unified Team

Build great team relations in the workplace through developing our most valuable personal assets – our voice, expression and the way we listen. Experience the connection between conscious presence and stress reduction. From a valued, integrated team great ideas flow!

Playing Music

Re-connect with, or learn a musical instrument in a supportive atmosphere. Open up to the magic of music without the pressures that we often experience when learning to play music.

- Let go of self-judgement and the internal critic
- Reclaim the natural authority of your voice
- Discover your naturally resonant body – make expression effortless
- Reduce stress and anxiousness and increase general well-being
- Experience the health benefits of singing, speaking, expressing confidently

Chris James internationally renowned voice coach, singer and musician is recognised for his expertise in all aspects of voice and expression. From practical and fun interactive corporate sessions, to schools, government depts and the general public, re-discover the power of your authentic, confident self-expression, and the joy of your natural voice.

Contact: Sandra Vicary Ph 07762 568259
admin@chrisjames.net www.chrisjames.net